Introducing the National Trauma Training Programme

The experience and impact of trauma and adversity in the lives of Scottish people is more pervasive than has previously been recognised and has been exacerbated by the COVID pandemic. The National Trauma Training Programme supports the shared ambition of the Scottish Government, COSLA and partners from across Scotland of a trauma informed and responsive nation and workforce that is capable of recognising where people are affected by trauma and adversity, able to respond in ways that prevent further harm while supporting recovery and can address inequalities & improve life chances. This free webinar is open to anyone with an interest in learning more about the National Trauma Training Programme and is a repeat from the session delivered in December 2020. The session will:

- Provide an overview of the National Trauma Training Programme and its role in supporting organisational recovery from the impact of COVID 19.
- Update on commitments across local authorities and public services.
- Introduce the freely accessible animations, workshops and learning modules to support you to develop and build trauma informed, skilled and responsive practice in your role and service.
- Highlight the importance of leadership in driving trauma informed change.
